Recalling further that no one shall be subjected to enforced disappearance,

Recalling that no one shall be subjected to enforced disappearance and that no exceptional circumstance whatsoever, whether a state of war or a threat of war, internal political instability or any public emergency, may be invoked as a justification for enforced disappearance,

Recalling also that no one shall be held in secret detention,

Deeply concerned, in particular, by the increase in enforced or involuntary disappearances in various regions of the world, including arrest, detention and abduction, when these are part of or amount to enforced disappearances, and by the growing number of reports concerning harassment, ill-treatment and intimidation of witnesses of disappearance or relatives of persons who have disappeared, including by the misuse of information and communications technologies,

Recognizing that the use of new technologies can prove instrumental in offering better protection against enforced disappearance, by advancing the search for disappeared persons, while also expressing concern that the use of new technologies can facilitate or conceal the commission of enforced disappearance,

Calling upon States that have not provided substantive replies concerning claims of enforced disappearances in their countries to do so, and to give due

Acknowledging the valuable work of the International Committee of the Red Cross in promoting compliance with international humanitarian law in this field,

Deeply concerned that situations of health emergencies and pandemics, such as the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic, have created new contexts where enforced disappearances may occur, and that, in this regard, measures related to fighting these extraordinary health situations may impact the capacity of many actors to take the necessary action to search for disappeared persons and to investigate their alleged enforced disappearance,

Urging Member States to address gender-based violence, including as related to cases of enforced disappearance, and recalling that such violence can never be justified and that Member States should not limit measures taken to prevent and address enforced disappearances, including those involving gender-based violence, especially against women and girls,
