for communities, but also a symbol of social interaction, cultural expression and everyday tradition across generations,

Noting that coffee represents the main livelihood source for millions of households and represents an important source of revenue for many developing countries,

Noting also that coffee production and processing contribute to the fight against hunger (Sustainable Development Goal 2), the reduction of extreme poverty (Goal 1), the empowerment of women (Goal 5), and the provision of decent work and economic growth (Goal 8),

Recognizing that coffee provides economic benefits at each step of the global value chain and greatly contributes to the economies of both exporting and importing countries,

Emphasizing the importance of coffee consumption and fair distribution of revenue along the value chain, aimed at supporting the livelihoods of the various participants, especially smallholder farmers,

Recalling the urgent need to raise public awareness of the importance of coffee for sustainable livelihoods and to improve the coffee value chain to contribute to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development,
